Art Program at the Woman's Club

After a short business session at the Woman's Club Saturday afternoon with the president, Mrs. C. R. Tydings, presiding, Miss Byrd Wartmann, chairman of art, took the chair for the remainder of the afternoon, her program being one of the most thoroughly delightful given before the club this winter.

The first number was a piano solo, "Hieland Lassie," by Miss Annie MacKay. It is not often that the club has the pleasure of listening to one so young in years as this pretty little musician, and her rendition of the charming piece gave much pleasure to her audience.

A round table, "Pictures that Interest Me, Influence Me and Why," conducted by Mrs. G. W. Martin, afforded a pleasant opportunity to hear Mrs. William Hocker, Mrs. E. G. Peek and Mrs. Martin describe their favorite pictures. Mrs. Hocker told of the mural decorations in the Boston library. She spent three winters in Boston, during which time she visited frequently the library and "In Quest of the Holy Grail" in fourteen scenes, she considered the most wonderful of all the pictures. Mrs. Peek's favorite is Rudolph Bacher's "Madre Dolorosa" and Mrs. Martin's, "The Dove at the Ford," by James M. Hart.

"J. Pierpont Morgan's Gift to the Metropolitan Museum of Art" was the subject on which Miss Wartmann interestingly spoke. She is one of Ocala's most gifted musical instructors and equally as talented an artist as a musician. When in New York, and that is often, she spends much of her time at the museum and her talk was based on personally gleaned knowledge more than the knowledge acquired by studying art, for which she has an insatiable longing. Morgan is an American first and last whose chief idea is to uplift and elevate, said the speaker. He has financed the work of digging up antiquities in art and has kept expert buyers in the field with the result that he has obtained the most wonderful collection in the world. Collections made by other financiers are lost when compared with that of Morgan. Miss Wartmann told of the seven sets of medieval tapestries, antedating 1500 and very rare; of the illumination collection, perfect and representing every period; and of many of the other collections. The Oriental section has gifts of varying importance, all beautiful. In conclusion, she said:

"These are only suggestions of the wonderful works of art so general in their uplift that Mr. Morgan felt were a trust for the people. The value of Mr. Morgan's bequests cannot be realized in money, talk as we may in multi-millions. Art is not to be estimated by money standards—the real loss to the public and the museum today is not the objects that have been withdrawn. The loss of Mr. Morgan's interest and energy is the real tragedy."

The principal speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. D. M. Smith, who told of "Italian Art." Mrs. Smith has traveled extensively abroad and is familiar with all the pictures she named and their painters. For the pleasure of our readers who were unable to be present at the meeting we will publish in detail Mrs. Smith's address which she delivered without notes.

The meeting concluded with a social half hour, Mrs. J. D. Rooney and Mrs. M. A. TenEyck, hostesses, serving refreshments consisting of snow pudding cake and ice cream. The latter was a gift to the club through a courtesy to Mrs. Rooney from the Mo-Cola Company.

Bishop Mann at Grace Church

The Rt. Rev. Cameron Mann, D. D., bishop of the district of Southern Florida, made his annual official visitation to Grace Episcopal church yesterday, preaching in the morning and evening two very splendid sermons to large congregations.

Being Palm Sunday, the commemoration of Jesus' triumphal entry into Jerusalem, the church was beautifully decorated with palms.

At the 11 o'clock service Bishop Mann took for his text: And then soldiers plaited a crown of thorns and put it on his head and arrayed him in a purple garment. John 19:2. His sermon was short, but one of force and interest.

Before beginning his text Bishop Mann asked the members to subscribe for the church's magazine, Palm Branch. Through this medium, of which he is editor, he is enabled to keep in closer touch with the members of his diocese if they are subscribers, and they with him and the work accomplished.

Following the sermon the bishop confirmed a class of seven, the scene being very impressive as each one of the candidates received the blessings of the bishop. In his address to the class the bishop called its attention to the importance of keeping annually confirmation anniversaries. Those confirmed were Judge and Mrs. William Gohr, Mrs. B. D. Blackburn, Mrs. James Engesser, Mrs. Charles Flippen, Miss Fay Campbell and Mr. Walter Tagg.

The study class of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet tomorrow afternoon promptly at 3 o'clock at the rectory. A cordial invitation is extended all who are interested.

A little daughter arrived early yesterday morning to gladden the hearts and home of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Newson Jr. Mrs. Newson has been spending some time with her mother, Mrs. A. K. Taylor of Jacksonville, at her home in Ortega. Mr. Newson went up Saturday and was there when his little daughter arrived. Their friends will be glad to hear of the happy event.

The boys' class of the North Ocala Sunday School will hold an ice cream social Thursday night at the home of Mrs. J. M. Gates. No admission will be charged but cream, cake and candies will be on sale. The boys solicit the patronage of their friends.

A charming event, assembling informally nearly a score of friends was the rook party given this afternoon by Mrs. R. A. Burford in compliment to her sister, Mrs. J. B. Wiley, of Troy, Ala., who is to conclude a fortnight visit in the city tomorrow.

The appointments at the party were particularly lovely as are all the social affairs given at this delightful home. A bouquet of sweet peas in varied hues, was awarded the player scoring highest.

Following the games tempting refreshments course consisting of chicken salad, fruit jelly, wafers sandwiches and orange ice was relished. In entertaining and serving Mrs. Burford was assisted by her daughter, Miss Mary Burford.

There were four tables of players and composing them were the following guests: Mrs. Wiley, Mrs. E. P. Rentz, Mrs. Charles Rheinauer, Mrs. G. S. Scott, Mrs. J. W. Hood, Mrs. F. E. Harris, Mrs. W. K. What better proof can be had? J. A. Chandler, proprietor of the New Grocery Co., 24 W. Broadway, Ocala, says: "Knowing what great benefit Doan's Kidney Pills have been to one of my family, I take pleasure in recommending them to sufferers from kidney complaint. The one I refer to had been having considerable trouble with his back and kidneys. At one time he was obliged to give up his work for several days on account of lameness across his back. As soon as Doan's Kidney Pills was taken these troubles were relieved and by continuing their use, he was cured."

who owns the dwelling—the business property—that stands in your name?

of course you think that you do; but are you right?

the question is worth considering, it involves the origin and the development of individual ownership in land.

in the beginning of civilization no man owned any definite part of the earth. nomadic tribes camped over particular sections of it; homes and trading places were not fixed; land was too plentiful for individuals to dispute over the occupancy of any particular spot.
